

Interruption to road access in your area

Queen Street between Charles Street and King Street October - November 2022

Oxford County Public Works is undertaking construction in your area to replace a sewer main and watermain. A temporary bypass will be installed around the existing sewer main during construction to ensure continued, safe sewage collection along Queen Street. There will be no interruption to water or wastewater services during the construction period.

Construction will take place on Queen Street in Ingersoll between Charles Street and King Street, beginning on October 11 and running until approximately October 28, 2022. After repair work has finished, construction will resume again in early or mid-November for final asphalt road paving on Queen Street.

Driveway access: Please note that residents will not be able to access their driveways while Queen Street is being paved. You will receive another notification with the date for this work, which will last approximately 12 hours (one day) in early to mid-November. There may also be times during construction when some driveways are blocked overnight.

Garbage and recycling: Your garbage and recycling bags and containers will be moved to an alternate location for collection and your bins returned to a common area at the end of the day. Please mark your address on your bins.

Thank you for your patience as we work to complete these necessary repairs.
